Unitarian Universalist Principles

We, the member congregations of the Unitarian Universalist Association, covenant to affirm and promote:

- The inherent worth and dignity of every person;
- Justice, equity and compassion in human relations;
- Acceptance of one another and encouragement to spiritual growth in our congregations;
- A free and responsible search for truth and meaning;
- The right of conscience and the use of the democratic process within our congregations and in society at large;
- The goal of world community with peace, liberty and justice for all;
- Respect for the interdependent web of all existence of which we are a part.

UUFVB Mission Statement:

We, a caring liberal religious community, encourage spiritual growth, provide education to our community, and seek justice for all.

We Are a Welcoming Congregation

Rev. Chuck McNatt

We Unitarian Universalists agree on many things, the Seven Principles foremost, and generally a number of other basic concepts, beliefs, and orientations to life. Still, we are individuals, many of us coming out of widely differing faith traditions and having differing preferred approaches to seeking answers to the biggest questions of life and to satisfying our spiritual needs. How do we all find what we need in our "big tent" of Unitarian Universalism?
